If gratitude is good, why is it so hard to do? In Grateful, Diana Butler Bass untangles our conflicting understandings of gratitude and sets the table for a renewed practice of giving thanks.

We know that gratitude is good, but many of us find it hard to sustain a meaningful life of gratefulness. Four out of five Americans report feeling gratitude on a regular basis, but those private feelings seem disconnected from larger concerns of our public lives. In Grateful, cultural observer and theologian Diana Butler Bass takes on this “gratitude gap” and offers up surprising, relevant, and powerful insights to practice gratitude.

Bass, author of the award-winning Grounded and ten other books on spirituality and culture, explores the transformative, subversive power of gratitude for our personal lives and in communities. Using her trademark blend of historical research, spiritual insights, and timely cultural observation, she shows how we can overcome this gap and make change in our own lives and in the world.

With honest stories and heartrending examples from history and her own life, Bass reclaims gratitude as a path to greater connection with god, with others, with the world, and even with our own souls. It’s time to embrace a more radical practice of gratitude – the virtue that heals us and helps us thrive.

REFLECTIONS ON THIS SUNDAY'S READINGS

(AUG. 25, 2019) THE ELEVENTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST—PROPER 6, YEAR C

Welcome to Christ Church. In today's reading from the gospel of Luke, Jesus heals a woman who had been crippled for eighteen years. A rigid religious leader complains that Jesus, in healing her on the Sabbath, is breaking the Commandments. Jesus replied that if the Commandments allow one to untie livestock on the Sabbath so that they can get water, we certainly could unbind human beings who are tied to illness on the Sabbath. Jesus is showing that the law of God is for human and humane purposes and not simply a rigid rule used to beat down others.

We continue reading through the prophets. Jeremiah, whose writings we will hear for several weeks, lived about one hundred years after Isaiah. He was a prophet in Judah as it neared and reached the time of its destruction. Today we hear Jeremiah's call from God to bring a hard message to the people.

The writer of the letter to the Hebrews reminds us that we are no longer merely part of this world that is passing away. We are part of the divine life and of the ongoing sweep of God's story of salvation. Though we live in this world, we are part of that unseen Kingdom that is eternal.

We gather in the Eucharist as a community of faith, which transcends time and space: an eternal family whose life and joy is the result of placing God before all things. The Eucharist is a foretaste of the heavenly feast but it is not the feast itself. We are called to persevere in the faith that will lead us to feast at God's table in the Kingdom that is coming.

Meet our Episcopal Service Corps (ESC) Programs: Life Together

Life Together is the ESC member program based in eastern Massachusetts. This program hosts up to 18 fellows in 3 houses for 10-12 month placements, with the opportunity to continue in a second year. They are committed to renewing the Church as a school of love and aim to awaken hearts, raise voices, build relationships, and act through the teachings and practices of love that will change lives and communities. Their mission is to raise the next generation of prayerful and prophetic leaders for the church and world.

During their #ServiceYear, all Life Together fellows live in intentional community and work for social justice in schools, non-profits, and churches, while spending one day per week developing leadership skills, nurturing their spiritual growth, and deepening community relationships. In general, fellows serve where the need is greatest, but their placements are also meant to be places where they can engage in work that speaks to their heart, challenges them to ask big questions, and brings them joy. These placements include a group of first year and second year fellows in the Boston area and a cohort of teaching fellows serving in Lawrence through a partnership with Esperanza Academy.

Throughout their time together, fellows learn contemplative worship composed of sacred chant, Lectio Divina scriptural meditation, centering prayer, and silence. Fellows meet individually with a spiritual director every month and are encouraged to experiment with contemplative practices in their intentional communities and to lead worship in trainings throughout the year.

All Life Together fellows live in intentional Christian community for 10-12 months. Upon moving into a house, fellows create their community's rule of life, or living house covenant, to continually shape a healthy rhythm of fellowship, self-care, and worship. Communal practices include circle practice, study of the Enneagram, nonviolent communication, and the creation of community covenants. Prophetic practices include team-building, telling a public narrative, conducting 1:1 meetings, building a shared purpose, and other practices of community organizing. These practices help fellows become agents of personal and social transformation, in their communities and in their own lives.

Fellows share a community meal together each Monday evening and meet several Friday mornings a month with Prayer Partners. Prayer Partners are volunteers--Life Together alumni, priests, spiritual directors, and friends of the program--who accompany our fellows in deepening their learning and spiritual growth as a community. Learn more about Life Together at lifetogethercommunity.org.

About Episcopal Service Corps

Episcopal Service Corps is a network of young adults ages 21-32 serving through locally organized intentional communities that are dedicated to: serving others in solidarity; promoting justice in community; deepening spiritual awareness and vocational discernment; and living simply.

In return for volunteering, Corps members receive housing, health insurance, and small stipends to cover living expenses, transportation and food. For many young adults, this year serves as an opportunity for vocational discernment broadly understood. Most of our participants move into positions of leadership within their local churches, the wider Episcopal Church, and community organizations. Learn more about ESC on the web at episcopalservicecorps.org and on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter at @EpiscopalServiceCorps.

Know someone who might be a good fit for a #ServiceYear through ESC? Send them a link to the application: episcopalservicecorps.org/esc-application. A few programs are still accepting applications for the year starting in August 2019. Questions? Contact Wendy Johnson, esc@episcopalchurch.org.
